King Hopes to Delay Election in Canada Until War Is Over

By C. R. BLACKBURN

OTTAWA, Sept. 28.—(CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King last night told a dinner gathering of close to 400 National Liberal Federation members that he hopes there will be no necessity of a general election in Canada until the hour at which we may look forward to welcoming back to their homeland those Canadians who survive the war overseas.

But "whether a general election can be delayed until that time I cannot say," he added.

Mr. King was speaking in reply to the toast to the guests at a dinner of the advisory council of the National Liberal Federation and Liberal workers from coast to coast, who yesterday morning started a two-day party reorganization meeting.

Defer Election Until After War

The last 10 pages of the Prime Minister's prepared text were devoted almost exclusively to the question of a general election, while Mr. King indicated an apparent determination to avoid an appeal to the country until the war is over or the statutory life of parliament is ended—mid-summer 1945—he mentioned a number of contingencies which might bring on an election at any time.

At Council Meet Liberal Groups Call For More Militant Policy

By FRANK FLAHERTY

OTTAWA, Sept. 28.—(CP)—As committees of the advisory council of the National Liberal Federation went to work in separate meetings yesterday it became clear that a more militant attitude in domestic politics will be demanded by the Liberal party as a result of this week's meeting of the council and last week's caucus of Liberal parliamentarians. Demands for more militancy were heard in the main council discussion yesterday afternoon as representatives of affiliated organizations like the Women's and Youth's Centres, the National Student League, and the National Labour Council, among others, presented their reports and as provincial representatives were heard all behind closed doors.

Committees set up yesterday are to deal with nominations, under chairmanship of D. A. McNeill, member of parliament for Regina; organization, under Arthur W. Roebuck, member for Toronto Trinity; constitution, under B. M. Hill, member for Charlottetown; resolutions, under Brooke Claxton, member for Montreal St. Lawrence-St. George.

Churchill Says:

Present Effort

For Two Years

By E. C. DANIEL

LONDON, Sept. 28.—(AP)—Prime Minister Churchill told 6,000 women at a government-sponsored conference today that Britain's job is to maintain its present war effort through the next two years.

Mr. Churchill said the country must continue the war effort at its current pace "through the fifth year of war or the sixth if it need be." Britain began its fifth year of the present conflict Sept. 3.

WOMEN BROUGHT IN Women from industry, military units and voluntary services from all parts of Britain were brought here by the government, which paid their fares and reimbursed those who lost time from work to attend the conference.

Text of the speech was withheld for later release, but portions were released by the press in the London Evening News.

Assembled at the Albert Hall, the women heard speeches by other members of the war cabinet in addition to Mr. Churchill and were allowed to ask them questions.

Make 6 Attacks Canucks Battle With 'Wolf-Pack' In Mid-Atlantic

OTTAWA, Sept. 28.—(CP)—Long-range Liberator bombers operating from a base on the Canadian east coast launched six separate attacks against submarines of the German "Wolf-pack" during an early-morning raiding battle in mid-Atlantic, the R.C.A.F. announced today.

The air force made no specific claim of destruction of or damage to the submarines involved, but said one of its aircraft returned with a "motor disabled by battle" and a "propeller damaged by the wings, tail and fuselage" of a submarine.

Although already designated as a "Führer," the German dictator, the Federation said, he was delayed in making his selection and was now late in the day.

—British and Canadian troops in a 22-mile advance captured Foggia, the biggest air base and transport centre in southeast Italy, and the battle of Naples raged toward an imminent crisis today.

Fighting hard in hand and yard by yard, Lt.-Gen. Mark W. Clark's Anglo-American Fifth Army knocked one to two miles through the German hedgehog defenses north of Salerno. British assault forces reached the city, dominating the town of Nocera, 10 miles from Salerno, on the direct road to Naples, and 20 miles below the big port itself.

Nocera became a no man's land as the Nazis found it too hot to hold but they still overlooked the town, making it difficult for the Fifth Army's left wing to move in. The fortress of the Salerno fighting was confirmed by prisoners of the 16th Panzer Division who said 35 per cent of their forces were killed, wounded or prisoners.

ADVANCE 22 MILES

As the British-Canadian Eighth Army pushed about 22 miles to seize Foggia and its air fields and the town of Benevento, the city occupied in the centre, the fall of Naples appeared near for three reasons.

1. The unremitting pressure of the Fifth Army to the north.

2. The onward march of the Americans to the east, who advanced the Fifth Army right flank five miles to overrun 46 miles due east of Naples.

3. The continued dash up the

OTTAWA, Sept. 28.—(CP)—Wheat trading on the

Winnipeg Grain Exchange, a feature of Canadian life since

1891, was suspended today as the federal government an-

Spokesmen Say: Safeguarding of Canadian Price Ceiling Main Reason For Halting Wheat rading

OTTAWA, Sept. 28.—(CP)—Safeguarding of the Canadian price ceiling which holds down the wartime cost of living was revealed today as the primary reason for discontinuing wheat trading on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

Government spokesmen who declined to be quoted said the recent rapid rise in wheat prices in the Winnipeg market represented a grave threat to the price-control policy handled by the Prices Board.

Had wheat prices been allowed to rise without check, bread prices would have risen and government subsidy payments would have had to be immensely increased, they said.

METHOD OUTLINED

The method to be used by the federal government to maintain a ceiling price for wheat for human consumption, and thereby hold bread costs at present levels, was outlined in the statement issued early today by Trade Minister MacKinnon, announcing suspension of wheat trading.

The minister said the government plans to provide wheat to rationed domestic purchasers at government-owned or subsidized prices, and to allow the farmer to have a participation interest.

"The government will not allow to avoid the possibility of the wheat farmer's agent and, in effect, the ultimate buyer of the wheat," Mr. MacKinnon said.

To maintain existing bread prices, the government must do a year ago established bread price of 77 cents a bushel for wheat used by the baking industry for domestic consumption. Under this system, the wheat board averages price of wheat prevailing during the four-week period. A drawback to bakers is that the amount between 77 cents and the average price has been provided through the prices stability corporation.

BECOMES EXPENSIVE

While the wheat price held at less than $1 a bushel, the cost to the federal treasury was no greater than had been anticipated. But when the price began to move toward $1.20 the drawback became highly expensive, since the annual consumption of wheat in Canada is about 50,000,000 bushels.

The government is taking over the positions, including that held on 1940-41, 1941-42 and 1942-43 wheat board contracts. The latter category will total many millions of bushels. When this wheat is taken over, a final payment will be made to farmers holding participation certificates.

It is also noted that wheat grown in these crop years—some of which was bought for 70 cents a bushel and some for 80 cents—will be sold to the property of the government outright. There has been no payment of what payment was made on participation certificates but it probably will vary with the crop years.

OWNS OTHER STOCKS
In addition, the government will own all other stocks, including the except that held by producers on hand.

Beginning today, the initial price will be $1.25 a bushel, with the producer also granted a participation certificate so that if the final selling price should be higher he will receive his share of the difference. Wheat will not be used to supply subsidized domestic purchasers, or to meet the needs of the government's military aid plan through which assistance is given to other United Nations.

Prices board authorities were understood to have said that bread ceiling prices could not be held at their present level without the price to bakers reflected recent gains on the grain exchange, either in whole or in part.

If bread prices moved upward, the cost of living index, which is based higher and the whole price control program would be placed under new strain, they said.

Empire Aviation Conference Soon
Executive to the Edmonton Bulletin Corporation, told by the Canadian Press, that a conference among Great Britain and governments of the dominions and post-war aviation will be held soon in London. It was learned authoritatively today.

Mr. Minister Arthur S. Drakeford said representatives of the dominions will be invited to the conference to exchange views on the matter with the other dominions.

Britain has been at a disadvantage because her manufacturing capacity has been engaged in the fight for bomber and reconnaissance aircraft production, while other countries have been able to produce in place the same position as other dominions who, like us, desire to assist Britain.

He promised the government would not permit "Australia's interests to be overlooked."

$1,500 Fine Given For Gas Coupons

The coupons were good for 200 gallons of gasoline.

Molasses Honey Ration Doubled: Syrup Increase

OTTAWA, Sept. 28.—(CP)—Molasses and honey ration will be doubled and coupon values of corn, maple, cane and blended syrups effective Thursday day, the Prices Board announced last night.

Under this revised ration coupons D-4 and D-5 which were scheduled to become valid Oct. 15 now become valid Oct. 15.

The board said in its announcement that because preserving ration coupons is necessary to put the system into operation and then make adjustments on the basis of experience.

The molasses value of one "D" coupon will be increased from 10 fluid ounces to 20 fluid ounces, or one pint. The syrup value increases from six fluid ounces to 12 fluid ounces or one pound.

For corn honey the value will be increased from 10 fluid ounces to 20 fluid ounces, or one pint. For maple syrup the value for one standard coupon will be increased by 4, or four inches by five inches.

Because of the great variety of container sizes the ration allowance for corn and maple syrup and blended syrups are being increased to 10 fluid ounces in the case of corn and maple syrup and 12 fluid ounces in the case of blended syrups.

The valid date of coupons D-4 and D-5 is being moved forward, the board explained, to enable consumers to buy some items such as corn and maple syrup in large containers they have normally purchased in the past.

The board said the supplies of corn and maple syrup were packed before rationing went into effect and they could not be repacked without waste.

In some areas molasses is in heavy demand while in others the consumption is low. Doubling the ration allowance of this commodity will enable consumers who use large quantities to get what they need and still leave some for others.

The situation is somewhat similar in regard to the honey, the board reported.

In urging consumers not to spend coupons unless they need the goods the board said the supplies of corn and maple syrup were not so great as those of honey and new coupon values were set to meet the situation.

War Loan Stunt Back-Fires on Raft-Sitters

PORTLAND, Sept. 28.—(AP)—What started out as a light-hearted publicity stunt was grim reality yesterday for seven raft-sitters in the Portland harbor.

They jumped onto a navy raft in the Willamette River, planning to get along on shipwrecked rafts until Oregon filled its $184,000,000 war loan in the third week of the month.

Now, 10 days later, Oregon has raised only 42 percent of the quota and the coast guard has taken a liberal attitude toward the simulating shipwreck conditions.

The men are down to their last day of chocolate and bananas and are eating only two meals a day. They told reporters they were "tired, hungry and cold."

The coast guard not only refused them additional food but also blankets, long underwear and a blanket.

Unless bond sales spur, the men won't be rescued until the third war loan campaign ends Saturday.

Laud Action By Government Fixing Prices

exchange was in line with the policy of our organization and we feel that it will be in the best interests of all the people.

However, most of the increases in wheat prices, Mr. Gardiner said, while the farmers would certainly appreciate the increase in their income, it was not enough when the costs of production were all taken into account.

However, government action to fix the price of wheat, Mr. Gardiner said, would be a disaster.

E. G. Hensell, N.P. for Macleod, chairman of the National Council of the Social Credit party, said:

"The Social Credit party in the House of Commons have been urging for a long time that some such action be taken. Agriculture, particularly in time of war, must not be left to guess as to what their future will be. It is the responsibility of the federal government to make such guarantees as will keep the farmer satisfactorily solvent and encourage him to produce the vast quantities of food stuff required in time of war."

Some other outlet could be found, it was reported, 20 to 25 wheat pit traders and their staffs may find jobs in the government.

The position of the cash wheat broker was obscure, but it was recalled in the Great War their services were used in the marketing of Canadian wheat crop on a contract basis.

Surplused traders gathered in small groups at the opening of the exchange today.

From the exchange, W. D. Dowler, vice-president of the Grain Exchange, said the federal government order to sell wheat under a trading plan.

The Canadian Wheat Board will take over stocks of cash wheat at Sept. 27 closing prices—$1.25 a bushel—plus a premium of 90 cents.

Producers will be paid $1.25 a bushel, compared with the present initial bid of 90 cents a bushel.

The most drastic action which could be taken would be the establishment of a ceiling, permitting trading below or at that maximum. It was understood by local grain men that the United Nations, a heavy buyer of Canadian wheat, had favored the continuance of local futures trading.

Arbitration Board Hearing Of Tram Dispute Concludes As Submissions are Heard

Whether the Edmonton Street Railwaymen's Association or Local 569, an American Federation of Labor affiliate, represents Edmonton street railway motormen in the matter of agreements for wage and working conditions with the city will be decided in an award to be made by a three-man board of arbitration, headed by Magistrate M. M. Downey that concluded public sittings in the court house Monday night.

Visiting City

The board, appointed under the Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration Act by the provincial government, opened hearings after attempts at conciliation had failed. Hearings have been going on for several weeks, with many witnesses giving testimony.

The board, appointed under the Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration Act by the provincial government, opened hearings after attempts at conciliation had failed. Hearings have been going on for several weeks, with many witnesses giving testimony.

Urgent Need Stressed For Day Nursery

Serious need for the establishment of day nurseries in which the children of women engaged in war work could be taken care of during the working hours, was stressed by a delegation from the Edmonton Council of Social Agencies, and was supported by F. D. Sutcliffe, president, Great Western Garments Workers Ltd., who was speaking on behalf of a group of industrialists engaged in war projects here.

Members of the council of social agencies delegation intimated that there was urgent need for the establishment of a nursery here, and that as the manpower shortage became more acute this need would become greater. They urged that the city enter into an agreement with the Dominion and provincial governments for the operation of the nursery.

AGREEMENT SIGNED
It was pointed out by aldermen that the provincial government had signed already an agreement with the Dominion government agreeing to operate the nursery on a fifty-fifty basis. They asked why, in face of this agreement, the province asked the city to assume 25 per cent of the province's share of the cost of operation. They said that Alberta was the only province in Canada not carrying the full 50 per cent share of the cost.

F. D. Sutcliffe intimated that there was urgent need for the creation of a day nursery. He said that women had resigned from his plant because they could not find help to take care of their children while working.

He said that in May there were 475 women workers in the plant, and in July 384. The decrease, he said, was mainly attributed to the fact that mothers working in the plant were unable to find help to care for their children during working hours. He said that 35 women had intimated willingness to return to work if a day nursery was established.

He said that restaurant owners, laundry and dry cleaner operators, lacking plant companies and others engaged in essential war work were urgently in need of women workers.

The creation of a day nursery would make it possible for women to take part-time work, he said, as a survey had revealed they would do so if there was some place where their children would be cared for during their working hours.

TO BE CONSIDERED
The matter was referred to the finance committee for consideration and the city commissioners were instructed to ascertain from the provincial government the reason why it had requested the city to pay 50 per cent of the province's share of the cost of the agreement entered into with the Dominion government relative to the operation of day nurseries to be established in Edmonton.

Health Delegates Attend Banquet

Seventy delegates to the Public Health Association annual meeting attended a banquet in the main dining room of the Macdonald hotel Monday evening. Special guests included Dr. M. R. Bow, deputy minister of public health, and Mrs. Bow, and Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Salter. Mr. Salter, of the department of English, University of Alberta, was the guest speaker. He asked the public health workers to maintain their sense of humor. He stressed for the provision of time for fun in men were recognized as a group or class within the meaning of the act, then a couple of cable splicers might also demand recognition as a union. The department might well be cut into as many as 10 or 12 groups, he argued, which would create an impossible situation for the city.

The association was not a proper body for the following reasons, counsel claimed:

The notice calling the meeting was defective, the notice was not properly given, the time of the notice calling the meeting was too short, the meeting was not a meeting in law, the ballot paper contained the name of the association as the bargaining agent to be appointed. This was improper as the association is not a trade union within the meaning of the act.

LONG-TERM VIEW
The city had to take a long-term view, Mr. Garnde said, pointing out that many of the members of the association were young men who would not likely be employed after the war.

Award of the board, which comprises Magistrate Downey, City Commissioner A. Campbell and Joseph White, will be reported to Premier E. C. Manning, who is also minister of trade and industry.

RECOGNITION REFUSED
Nominally the hearings were concerned with a dispute between the Edmonton Street Railway Association and the City of Edmonton. The city has refused to recognize the association as a trade union with power to negotiate agreements for the motormen.

Actually the dispute is between the association and local 569, over which body shall be the representative union of the motormen.

The city has been dealing with local 569 for the last 30 years and claims its agreements about wages and working conditions negotiated with that union are binding and in full effect.

Chairman Downey, in a unique oration at the close of the hearing, advised the men representing the two disputing factions among the street railwaymen to "get together."

"A house divided against itself is certain to fall," the chairman said.

"United you stand, divided you fall is still very true and applies for a moment as an old street railway man I ask you, both the younger and older motormen, to consider the affect your dispute will have on the street railway movement in Edmonton," Magistrate Downey concluded.

HEAR SUBMISSIONS
In the closing action of the hearing Monday, which lasted just over three hours, the board listened to submissions, summing up the evidence and legal arguments from Col. F. C. McDonald, K.C., counsel for the Edmonton Street Railwaymen's Association, and Thomas Garnde, K.C., city solicitor.

J. N. McDonald, K.C., representing local 569, addressed the board briefly before the close.

Several street railway officials and other employees attended, including Superintendent Thomas Ferrier, Joseph Cherrington, president of the Street Railwaymen's Association, and J. Billingsley, president of local 569.

The dispute, as far as the board is concerned, had its inception on May 7 last when at a meeting in the car barn the association received a majority vote to be the representative union in negotiations with the City of Edmonton.

Col. Jamieson argued in his summation that the provincial act allowed change in representation between employers and employer providing a meeting and vote has been taken.

PROPER NOTICE GIVEN
Proper notice of the meeting had been given, he said, and obligations had been fulfilled, counsel contended. Notice had also been served on the city and the city was setting forth that the association desired to negotiate on behalf of the motormen.

He also claimed that the association was a true labor union within the meaning of the act, and that as there was "a core of trade union members included" in the stated aims and objects of the association when incorporation was obtained.

In addition counsel said the ballots clearly indicated that a choice between the two unions was to be made in the vote and the association had obtained a clear majority. The majority was 48.

Col. Jamieson cited several judgments in industrial disputes to support his contention.

Mr. Garnde called the board's attention to what he termed the long and harmonious period of relations between local 569 and the city, and warned that to suddenly terminate this relationship would be to court possible chaos and confusion among organized labor in the province, split the provincial civil servants, presently organized as an industrial association, into innumerable separate and independent groups, each entitled to separate bargaining units and have a similar effect on the mining industry which is similar to the situation.

These points had been raised by Carl Berg, Edmonton labor leader, at a previous session of the board.

NO LEGAL STATUS
The city solicitor said the association had no legal status as a bargaining agency as it was in the first place not a trade union. In the second place the motormen were not a class or category but a sub-group.

He then went into a long and detailed explanation of the statute's meaning of the word class and category. It was counsel's contention that if the motormen were a class or category, the post-war world and stated that "once that is provided for other ill will take care of themselves."

Discussions and election of officers will be carried out at the Tuesday meetings of the association.

Garnde said. In this request he quoted from a recent address of Premier Manning in which the latter said:

"Here in Alberta we have been practically free from strikes and labor disruptions when in many other parts of the Dominion and the United States there have been numerous strikes—some of them serious. There is a reason for this satisfactory condition in Alberta. That reason is based upon a common sense way of doing things."

"Organized labor is quick to respond to sound, practicable common sense treatment of its problems. Now let me explain briefly some of the practical steps your government has taken to eliminate the common causes of strikes and to establish and maintain harmonious relations between labor and employers upon a basis which is fair and equitable to both."

Just for a moment look at other aspect of labor relations. Where does the employer come in all this very true and applies for a moment as an old street railway man I ask you, both the younger and older motormen, to consider the affect your dispute will have on the street railway movement in Edmonton," Magistrate Downey concluded.

Inquest Finds Cyclist's Death Was Accidental

Death of John A. O'Morrow, killed in a traffic accident on Sept. 21, was found by a coroner's jury, Monday, to be accidental.

Cause of death was due to a fractured skull, contusion of brain and intracranial hemorrhage.

Dr. W. Radle, who attended the injured man, and Dr. John W. MacGregor, who performed a post-mortem, gave evidence. Several ribs on the left side had been fractured, it was stated, one of which had punctured the lung. Main injuries, it was added, had been to the head.

COMFORTABLE TESTIFIES
Constable J. H. Cookson, of the city police department, told the jury he had investigated the accident about 4:15 p.m. Sept. 21, and he tried to get out of the way, he told by George Enslininger, continued the witness, by accelerating his truck. Previously, he said, he had slowed down to allow two other cars to pass in front of him. The cyclist had suddenly come into view.

Harold L. Howe, K.C., represented the family and estate of the deceased, while C. W. Clement appeared for Enslininger.

Members of the jury were J. W. Parks, foreman; Francis Taylor, Francis Lefkowitz, R. J. Talbot, G. W. Bagnall and A. Whetstone.

Dr. E. A. Brailwaite, chief provincial coroner, presided. C. G. Purvis, K.C., conducted the inquiry.

SEES NAZI FINISH
NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—(AP)—Dr. Stephen S. Wise, president of the American Jewish Congress, said yesterday "The Nazis ought to be and will be finished by April 12, 1944." He offered his prediction as he made a purchase of war stamps, and added "April 12, 1944 may well be the end of the war, with possibly Japan remaining to be mopped up."

George Enslininger said he had made a complete turn from 30 street onto 105 avenue before he saw the cyclist about 10 feet away. He tried to get out of the way, he told by George Enslininger, continued the witness, by accelerating his truck. Previously, he said, he had slowed down to allow two other cars to pass in front of him. The cyclist had suddenly come into view.

"116,170 Ideas for Victory"

FROM GENERAL MOTORS WAR WORKERS

... and General Motors Is Rewarding that Spirit at the Rate of a Million Dollars a Year

Stanley E. Blair, a utility man at General Motors in Oshawa, has received $750 in War Bonds for his suggestion. Blair's idea resulted in a saving of thousands of dollars worth of lumber and labor in a year in creating military vehicles for shipment.

For a suggestion that has saved considerable labor and material in the production of fast tank car chassis, James J. Burke has received $750 in War Savings Certificates. Mr. Burke, a General Motors engineer at Oshawa, "hit the jackpot" with his heart-math suggestion and he intends to make as many more as he can think of.

IN ALL of its 112 plants in 50 cities of Canada and the United States, General Motors encourages employee suggestions for aiding war production, through a carefully planned system of awards. General Motors has always welcomed suggestions from employees. In fact, there have been similar suggestion plans in various GM plants for years, and it was thought that an expansion of these plans in these times would increase war production efficiency.

As a result, GM war workers have to date contributed 116,170 written ideas. Yes, written ideas. Many of them good ideas, "Victory Ideas." Nearly 20,000 of them have been winning ideas and have been put into operation. For the open mind policy of General Motors accords a fair test to every suggestion.

Eight thousand four hundred ideas were submitted the very first month. They are now coming in at a monthly rate of better than 10,000, or a yearly rate of one idea for every three workers.

Thus, the individual war workers of General Motors are being given full opportunity to add their bit to the continuing contributions of management, supervision and engineering, in those activities which deal with increasing production, saving materials, lowering costs and promoting plant safety.

Helping Those Who Help Our War Effort
In the first 15 months' operation of its plan to reward workers for ideas that assist our war effort, General Motors paid out $660,895 in War Bonds and Stamps. And today the awards are being made at the rate of better than a million dollars a year.

General Motors considers that money well spent. It is a merited reward to those who help our war effort. It is a proper incentive for individual initiative. It is one form of appreciation to those who think as they work—who are not content merely to perform the requirements of their jobs.

Something Better, Faster
Canadians are always interested in finding ways to do things better and faster.

This spirit among General Motors men and women—now also increased by the desire to help win Victory and to back the men at the war fronts—accounts for their inspiring performance.

There must be a great inward satisfaction for all who have submitted suggestions, in the realization that they have made some effort out of the ordinary to help win the war.

They can say of themselves, as General Motors says—"Victory Is Our Business!"

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—The season's first red-hot compass, donated by Mosera, Riegels and Corrigan, goes to Bob Oehl, Pennsylvania's captain who scored for both teams in the first period of the Princeton game Saturday. Having intercepted a pass, Oehl absentmindedly stepped back into the end zone for an automatic safety. Chagrined at giving the Tigers two points, he then whipped out of a fake kick formation and galloped 80 yards for Penn's first touchdown.

Dartmouth, touted as an eastern power, must feel a "little green" after being held to a 30 victory over supposedly hapless Holy Cross, which used only 11 men throughout the entire game Sunday. Dartmouth got a field goal in the last two minutes of play. Had the tally been earlier, Coach Hank W. Scott might have drafted the H.C. cheerleader to relieve one of his "iron men".

ADOPTED "T" FORMATION
WE have discharged our operative No. 1014, who reported from West Point that army had adopted the "T" formation this season. A poll of the Villanova Wildcats, who were stumped 27-0 by the soldiers, discloses that it's the "T" system army is using.

Apparently army will need plenty of "TNT" in its seasonal classic with high school, were downed by Iowa navy pre-flight, 38-13. Iowa Seaboard sailors included erstwhile professionals Dick Todd, Perry Schwartz, Frank Mackin and Vince Banonis.

MADE 12 FIRST DOWNS
It was Ohio's first opening-day defeat since 1914. The high school kids made 12 first downs in the first 10 minutes of the game, but most of Ohio's gains were in mid-field, whereas the pros ate "pay dirt".

Cornell was more fortunate than the "Bucks," by Joe Waterman, who was in mid-field, whereas the pros ate "pay dirt".

Combines Win
Ontario Lacrosse
MIMICO, Ont., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Mimico-Brantcomb Combines won the Ontario Lacrosse Association senior title for the second successive year here Saturday night by defeating Lakehurst 25-8 before a crowd of 2,000.

Combines now meet the Quebec champions in the eastern Canada finals in Toronto next Saturday and Monday.

Combines held a lead of 8-0 at the end of the opening period, a 12-3 lead at the end of the second, and led 19-4 at the end of the third quarter.

Payoff men for the champions were Bill Brantcomb with six goals, and Bill Leach with four.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 26.—(AP)—The San Francisco Seals won the president's cup and $5000 Monday by defeating Seattle 5-4 in the deciding game of the Pacific Coast Baseball League playoff. Yesterday's win gave the Seals four out of six in the series. The Seattle team received $2,500 of the playoff money.

The series ended with a double play out off a Seattle man at the plate and the batter was thrown out at first.

Seattle had made three runs in their half of the ninth and had loaded the bases with one out when the double play ended the baseball campaign for the season.

Churches Asked to Provide Shelter for City's Homeless

Families Facing Eviction Demand Immediate Action In House Shortage Crisis

An appeal was made to the churches of Edmonton to offer shelter to citizens of Edmonton who are facing eviction from their homes within the next few days. The appeal was held at an organization meeting of the Renters' Association held in Memorial Hall Monday at 8 p.m.

I Saw Today

Of the 40 people attending the meeting at least 16 have received court orders to vacate their present premises and can find absolutely no accommodation for their families. The suggestion was made that many of the city churches have large banquet rooms, lecture halls and various other rooms which could provide shelter for these people until some other arrangement is made. Appeals to the city for help have been of no avail as it has no vacant buildings in which to house people without homes.

Objection was raised to the number of building permits issued for garages in the city and one man complained, "Can we certainly go to be accommodated this winter but what about people?" This is a national emergency and something has to be done about the situation immediately. The spring will be too late.

Canadians should have priority on staying in Edmonton, one man said, "and I would recommend this association investigate the question of the right of American families to stay here."

One of four, to be added to, was appointed, consisting of A. Taylor, F. G. Booth, Mrs. William Dunlop and C. Ellinger.

Before the next meeting of the association, called for Sunday, Oct. 10, the committee will call on Mayor John W. Fry, Robert Ellinger, the American Consul, Representative, Brig. Gen. J. A. O'Connor, commanding officer, Northwest Service Command, and the Trades and Labor Council.

William Williams, secretary manager of the Canadian Legion, told the meeting that the 1300 members of the Legion are strongly behind the association. He pointed out that the support of union members in the city should be instituted as they could swing a large number of people in behind the movement.

It was suggested that a declaration made at the last Canadian Legion meeting be followed up at the Wartime Housing be put at the top of the priorities list to get the project completed.

TO TELEGRAPH OFFICIALS
Telegram was drawn up to be sent to the Hon. James A. Mackinnon and Mrs. Cora T. Casselman, urging that the federal government take immediate steps to effect a remedy by preventing dispossession of these citizens unless and until alternate accommodation is provided. As one tenant put it, "I'm frozen out of my job, I should be frozen in my home."

A resolution was passed to be sent to the Dominion government urgently recommending that the housing situation be investigated with a view to commencing excess space, adding that inspectors be appointed to "fly investigate" tenants to protect landlords from undesirable.

One member of the meeting stated that he was going to resist eviction and when questioned as to how he intended to do this he replied, "Well, I have plenty of friends."

A mass meeting of all persons interested in the critical housing situation which has developed in Edmonton has been called for Oct. 10 at 8 p.m. in the Memorial hall.

THE QUESTION
What is your opinion of the proposed power pool to be formed between the City of Edmonton and the Calgary Power Co.?

THE ANSWERS
LEN LORSON, salesman. With coal in short supply and the possibility of strike by coal miners looming after Oct. 15, it would appear to be a very sensible step. Power supplied from this pool would enable the city to build up a reserve coal pile at the power house.

HARRY HUTCHINGS, clerk. With more demands being made daily on the power supplies of the province the formation of this pool seems to be a vital war necessity.

WILLIAM J. JONSON, commercial traveller. The city cannot lose any by the formation of this power pool. It is not compulsory for the city to take power from the pool unless a desperate situation arises, and then the power will be supplied at a rate per kilowatt hour that is the equivalent of the cost of the coal necessary to generate the same power in the city's plant. The pool agreement would appear to be good insurance for the city.

Complete Mobilization Really Means Something To 'Batting' Bowen Family

By JACK DELONG
Much is heard of total mobilization these days and most persons probably never stop to think of the startling fact that many Canadian families are actually on a basis of total mobilization at the present time.

The Bowen family, sons and daughters of Mrs. J. W. Bowen, 10745 126 street is an Edmonton family that has a good claim to being totally mobilized. Nine of 11 sons and daughters are serving their King and country in the armed services or in vital war industry.

Five sons comprise the family's representation in all three of Canada's fighting services, the navy, the army and the air force. Three are now overseas.

A fourth, Flying Officer Robert D. Bowen, D.F.C., is spending a furlough leave back in Edmonton after three years as a pilot in the combat squad over Europe and Africa.

City Is Urged Commence Construction of 1,000 Homes to Ease Shortage

Progress on the Wartime Housing Ltd. 330-house project in Edmonton was discussed at length by aldermen at Monday night's council meeting during consideration of a resolution from the Canadian Legion asking that the Dominion government issue instructions to have the necessary skilled workmen made available on this project, and to enable the city to start a housing project that would provide 1,000 homes to relieve the desperate housing shortage in the city.

Issues Appeal

After a discussion that lasted for more than 90 minutes, the only action taken by council on the Canadian Legion resolution was to acknowledge it and ordered the communication to be filed.

Alld. A. B. suggested, and later moved a resolution that the letter be forwarded to Wartime Housing Ltd., as an indication of the feeling of a section of public opinion in the community regarding the slow progress being made on the housing project, and also as to the need for further housing accommodation being provided. This resolution was carried 10-0.

ANOTHER RESOLUTION

Ald. James H. Ogilvie moved that the Legion resolution be sent to Hon. C. D. Howe, minister of munitions and supply, with a request that he take all necessary steps to assure labor for the completion of 1300 houses under construction by Wartime Housing Ltd.

Ald. Sidney Bowcott said that since additional carpenters had been allocated to the housing project, it was a very marked improvement in the progress. He expressed the opinion that constant work would result in dissatisfaction amongst those employed on the work.

Footsteps in the Fog

By ELINORE COWAN STONE

CHAPTER IV

IT WAS nobody in the world. Angela announced triumphantly, "but your beautiful, golden-haired Stephan!"

The cold cream he slipped from Deborah's fingers and shattered against the leg of a chair. In a moment, however, she was able to say with an almost convincing laugh, "Not really! I'll never doubt again that you have second sight, Angie. Well, did you get arrested?"

"I don't know. The news flash didn't last that long. I suppose," Angie spoke with heart-felt relief.

Then as she looked from the globe of cold cream that splattered the floor to Deborah, her face suddenly puckered like that of a child, who knows that he has been naughty and her voice went flat.

"I just thought you ought to know," she blurted. "I'm—oh, Deb, I'm so sorry."

"For what? After all, the good old States and Stripes still wave don't they?"

"And now, if you don't mind finishing the breadroll from your own bed, darling, I think I'll turn in."

But after the lights were out, Deborah did not sleep. Instead, she lay rigid, following with wide eyes the rippling pattern cast upon the ceiling by the headlight of passing cars.

"Angie," she said suddenly into the darkness, "I've been trying to remember—what was that thing the Portuguese fishermen on the Cape used to sing about the fog? When Angie only murmured in drowsy protest, she insisted, "But of course you remember... Something about the fog—always claiming its own, wasn't it?"

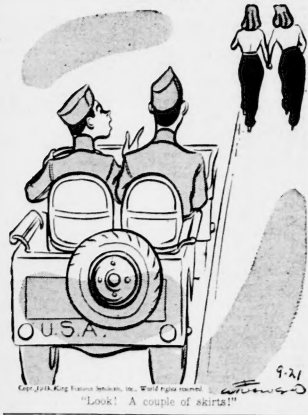

"Oh—that?" Angie yawned. "Just some superstitious nonsense."

HOLD EVERYTHING

The next morning Deborah and Angela started back to Cape Cod in the little car they had driven to California.

The old Lovett house sat just across the street from the water.

Armed Forces Express Thanks For Club's Work

During the months of July and August 15,000 men and women of the armed services of many nations were entertained at the Navy, Army and Wings Club.

The club is one of the endowments of the Airforce National Auxiliary, which is a voluntary organization. It cost a good deal of time, money and effort to provide this entertainment for the members of all services and we want them to know that we are most welcome at the club.

Pressing rooms are provided where the boys can refresh up their uniforms and the sitting room is well stocked with writing material, comfortable chairs and lamps, and current editions of newspapers and magazines. In the canteen light lunches are served.

In addition to managing the club, in which the women do all the work, members visit boys in hospitals. During the last three months calls were made on 1,150 servicemen and treats distributed. Most of the calls were made on interwar members of the services on week-end leave and Sunday dinner. Knitted garments are also made and Canadian servicemen are being sent in the Alaska mail, so that shipment contained 30 garments, mostly socks.

In addition to Canadian servicemen the club has entertained men from the United States, New Zealand and Czechoslovakia.

Lt.-Col. Allan Elliott, D.E. area commandant, said Tuesday that the army and staff from the headquarters in Calgary was on hand with a representative from the Department of Agriculture to make allocations of the soldier harvest help.

When larger contingents were expected to reach Edmonton Tuesday. This group is to move north of the city.

Mrs. Frank Oxford Is in City Hospital

Mrs. Frank Oxford, 55-year-old Amisk woman suffering from streptococcus infection, was removed to city hospital, was removed to Edmonton where she was admitted to University hospital Tuesday morning. She was transferred from the train to hospital by Smith's ambulance about 7 a.m.

Physicians at Hardisty expressed their confidence that she would completely recover from the sickness, while her husband, who has been here since last Monday and took some nourishment.

Doctor A. Hardisty said that it was her best day since she entered the hospital three weeks ago.

Mrs. Oxford improved steadily after injections of the bacteria drug penicillin had defeated the infection but complications set in early last week and her condition became worse. She was placed in an oxygen tent and was given 12 blood transfusions.

Visiting Officers Are Heading For North

Ranking officers of the R.C.A.F. and the Dominion departed Sunday in the course of an inspection tour of western airfields. The group left for a meeting for an inspection of air stations down the Macleod River basin.

Wins Promotion Women's Role Is Said Vital

Women in the services are essential, Sgt. W. A. Dwyer, C.W.A.C. told Kiwanis members who met Monday noon at the Macleod Hotel. Dwyer, who is in charge of various branches of the services, represented a cross-section of the services. He said that men in the forces represented a cross-section of Canadian manhood, he said.

A lot of people did not approve of women in the services, but he said that the day of every man to give credit to the boy or girl for doing what they could for Canada. It was a "renewed privilege" for women to take part and they should be backed up, he insisted.

Sgt. Shirley, whose home is at Lethbridge, had two brothers and her husband serving overseas. She herself, used three times in just the services before successfully doing so, twice she was turned down.

Women in uniform were here to do a very big job, he said for Canada. They were helping to back up the Canadian army.
